Fredericksburg Police Arrest Suspect in Recent Sexual Assaults

Yesterday evening, the Fredericksburg Police Department arrested the suspect in the recent sex offenses that occurred over the weekend at Buffalo Wild Wings. Nikesha Roy, 31, of Montross, Va. was arrested on four charges of sexual battery, one charge of sexual object penetration, and one charge of attempted sexual object penetration. Roy turned herself in at Fredericksburg Police Headquarters and is currently incarcerated at the Rappahannock Regional Jail without bond.

The Fredericksburg Police Department issued a news release Tuesday, August 13th concerning two sex offenses that occurred at the Buffalo Wild Wings located at 1638 Carl D. Silver Parkway. The incidents happened during an event at the restaurant at around midnight Friday, August 9th and 1:30 a.m. Saturday, August 10th.

Both victims, who are not familiar with one another, report the suspect approached them and struck up a conversation. The suspect appeared intoxicated and asked the victims to accompany her to the restroom. Both victims escorted the suspect to the restroom where they were sexually assaulted. One of the victims captured video footage of the suspect exiting the restaurant. The suspect is described as a black female in her mid-thirties or forties, approximately 5'2" to 5'7" with black hair and brown eyes. She was wearing a white t-shirt and skinny jeans.
